FLAG DAY

On May 21st, an "army" of volunteers "invaded" Sylvania Hills Memorial Park to place flags beside the gravestones of each military veteran.

Members from Chapter 862 and the Rochester VFW, led by Joe Maverio, joined other civic organizations including the Beaver Army JROTC, Boy Scout & Girl Scout troops, local Volunteer Fire Departments and many others in placing over 4000 flags in honor of our veterans.

The view of these memorials, each adorned with a US Flag is an awesome and inspiring sight. If you haven't seen this yet, you are missing a beautiful display of pride for our veterans.

On June 14th of each year, Americans celebrate Flag Day to honor the flag and to commemorate our flag's adoption. The US flag represents freedom and has been an enduring symbol of our country's ideals since its early days. Americans also remember their loyalty to the nation, reaffirm their belief in liberty and justice, and observe the nation's unity. We honor this day by displaying the US flag at homes and public buildings. Also, many communities observe this day with flag-raising ceremonies, Flag Day services, musical salutes, parades, or special recognition awards. Also, on the same day, the United States Army celebrates its birthday.

Our Chapter honors this day by sponsoring the Support Our Troops Rally at Quay Park in Beaver. The event is completely free, paid for by donations from our local community. The event begins promptly at 5:00 PM and includes the flag presentation by our Chapter 862 Color Guard, free food and drinks, flag handouts, and patriotic music performed by several local individuals and groups. All you need to do is bring your favorite lawn chair and a plan for an enjoyable evening, while celebrating our freedom and honoring our military.

Don't miss this chance to show our support for our troops. Remember our motto, "Never again will one generation of veterans abandon another." Let's show our military veterans and our community that we mean it. Thank you.

POW / MIA - Information taken from the National League of POW/MIA Families

Several of those named serve as examples of how remains repatriated many years ago can now be identified using contemporary science that wasn't available in the early years. The number of Americans now listed by DoD as returned and identified since the end of the Vietnam War in 1975 is 956. Another 63 US personnel, recovered by the US and identified before the end of the war, bring the total of US personnel accounted for from the Vietnam War to 1,019. Of the 1,627 still unaccounted-for, 90% were lost in Vietnam or in areas of Cambodia and Laos under Vietnam's wartime control: Vietnam-1,267 (VN-465, VS-802); Laos -304; Cambodia-49; PRC territorial waters-7.

ONGOING POW/MIA REORGANIZATION: Things continue to move fairly rapidly and with no small amount of confusion and dissonance internal to the three major organizations—DPMO, JPAC and LSEL—being restructured into one agency, the Defense POW/MIA Accounting Agency, or DPAA. RADM Michael T. Franken, USN, appointed by Under Secretary of Defense for Policy (USDPA) Christine Wormuth as the Interim Director, met with the Board of Directors on March 14th. His presentation gave reason for optimism that he was open to new ideas, such as Public-Private Partnerships (P3s) now under consideration. The League Board welcomed the concept, while recognizing that P3s would likely be more useful on WWII incidents that occurred in Europe, as well as Pacific Islands and other countries in Asia, than to Vietnam War losses, noting longstanding, hard-earned agreements reached with Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, for USG access in the context of bilateral government-to-government cooperation.

Chairman's Assessment: Secretary Hagel's personal involvement and commitment gave reason for optimism that the reorganization he directed would prove to be beneficial. The outcome is now less certain; however, senior military officers were selected to restructure the various elements into one efficient, effective agency with higher priority and support. Clearly, former Secretary Hagel was determined to "get this right" and was not tolerant of excuses; however, initial implementation by the PACT, The Clearing and other inexperienced staff showed reluctance to build on strengths and look for ways to improve the existing process. While that may seem simple, educated insights from experienced, dedicated professionals were neither sought nor welcomed by the earlier transition team

. We urged Under Secretary Wormuth to proceed thoughtfully, and she did, supported initially by Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Low Intensity Conflict (ASD/SOLIC) Michael Lumpkin and Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Community Outreach René Bardorf. Since January of this year, reorganization has primarily been in the hands of Interim Director RADM Mike Franken, USN, assisted by Maj Gen Kelly McKeague, with LTG Mike Linnington, USA, in an advisory role.

A permanent Director is due to be in place before the League’s 46th Annual Meeting in June.

FLAG ETIQUETTE

The United States Flag Code established advisory rules for display and care of the flag of the United States. It is Chapter 1 of Title 4 of the United States Code (4 U.S.C. § 1). The US Supreme Court does not allow for punitive actions for disrespect of the Flag as enforcement would conflict with the First Amendment right to freedom of speech. That said the code specifies that the US Flag is a living thing and should always be given the respect it deserves. The Flag not only represents the country, but those who sacrificed and/or died for their country in military service, key government service and first responders. If you disrespect the flag by not properly caring for it or displaying it you disrespect all those who sacrificed and died for the freedoms you enjoy.

The US Government does not specify proportions for the Flag except for military use. The American Legion suggest the following: For hanging from a staff on a building or home, 3x5, 16 foot pole 3x5, 20 foot pole 3x5 or 4x6, 25 foot pole 4x6 or 5x8, 30 foot pole 5x8 or 6x10 35 foot pole 6x10 or 8x12, 40 foot pole 6x10 or 8x12. Flags reserved for the US Military are the post flag which is 10feet by 20 feet, the garrison flag which is 20 feet by 36 feet and the Storm flag which is 4 feet 2 inches by 8 feet.

The US Flag should be raised at sun up and lowered at dusk unless there is a light on the flag. The US Flag should never be flown in the rain, snow or high winds with the exception of the polyester sewn all weather flag which can be flown in the rain or snow but should always be taken down in high winds (straight winds of 30 miles per hour or more and wind gust of 40 miles per hour or more. Leaving the flag up in high winds damages the flag and often tears the flag from the lanyard or rings.

The flag when hung on a building or home should always have the stars at the peak and it must always be flown on its own right (Towards the left as you look at it). I often see flags on homes improperly flown on the left side of the door or house. This is disrespectful to our flag. When a flag is displayed over a street it must always hang with the field of blue and stars at the peak and to its own right.

When a flag is taken down it should never be allowed to touch the ground or floor. It should never be allowed to sit inside bunched up. It should always be properly folded or if on a house pole, parade pole or speaking pole it should be properly sheathed. I have mine sheathed and can show anyone how to do so or to properly fold the flag.

Except for specific designated days, the flag may never be flown at half staff unless directed by the President of the United States or the Governor of a State. Local governments and mayors may not order the flag to be flown at half staff except for the Mayor of Washington D. C. (This is because the district is not a state or territory and does not have a governor.

All weather flags should be washed when they become soiled and any flag can be repaired if it can be restored to its original condition. Otherwise you should dispose of the flag by giving it to a Veterans Service Organization, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of America who can give it the proper burning ceremony.

When a flag is raised or lowered it should always be saluted by military personnel, veterans, police officers and fireman in uniform. Veterans may render the hand salute even when not in uniform. Civilians salute by placing their right hand over their heart. No other flag should ever be placed above the American Flag.

When multiple flag poles are used, the American Flag should be in the center and on the highest pole.

The designated days to fly the flag at half mast are: {Presidents Day - the third Monday in February, Memorial Day - The Last Monday in May Flag Day - June 14, Veteran's Day - November 11, National Korean War Veterans Armistice Day - July 27, for thirty days after the death of a president - both current and former, for ten days after the death of a vice-president, speaker of the house or chief justice of the Supreme Court, and the days between the death and burial of a Supreme Court Judge, former vice president, state or territory governor, or military department secretary. Other than these designate days, remember that only the President of the United States or a State Governor can order the flag to be flow at half mast.

What to the colors of the flag stand for: Red symbolizes hardiness, valor and blood, shed for liberty. White symbolizes purity, innocence and equality. Blue represents vigilance, perseverance, justice and fraternity. The stripes of the flag represent the first thirteen colonies, the stars on the field of blue represent the current number of states. For further explanation of flying, folding and caring for the flag please see the flag code, contact any veterans organization or myself.

POW/ MIA Flag

The POW/MIA Flag s an American flag designed as a symbol of citizen concern about US Military personnel taken as prisoners of war (POWs) or listed as missing in action (MIA). The POW/MIA Flag is flown every day over the white house, war memorials and many State Houses and Municipalities. With the passage of Section 1082 of the 1998 Defense Authorization act the POW/MIA Flag was specified to fly at a minimum each year on Armed Forces Day - Third Saturday in May, Memorial Day - Last Monday in May, Flag Day - June 14, Independence Day - July 4, National POW/MIA Recognition Day - Third Friday in September and Veterans Day - November 11. When flown on the same pole as the American Flag the POW/MIA Flag should not be larger than the American Flag and it takes immediate precedence below the American Flag and before any other flag including a State Flag.

I could write a book on Flag etiquette but all of the information is available on the web. As a veteran of more than 20 years and four combat tours, I am personally offended as should everyone in the community when someone disrespects our flag or displays it improperly.

Please take a moment to reflect on the blessings and freedoms we have as a result of those who served and continue to serve us in the military, police and first responders, especially those who died in the line of duty.

You can send questions or comments to Jake Barsottini at jbarsottini@gmail.com or you can call him at 724-601-7293.

Lee's Tid Bits:

Vietnam Memorial in Beaver

When you get on our vva862.org Website, you will see I've updated the picture of our Vietnam Veterans Memorial on Beaver. Larry Googins took some good pictures during Memorial Day. It's always nice to have fresh pictures. You will see our updated picture on the last page of the newsletter.

Secretary & Newsletter Editor in 2016

As I stated at the Awards Banquet when they kept wanting to install me. Next year you will be installing a new Secretary. Like the ad on TV, I'm giving my, instead of 15, one (1) year notice. By my calculations, I have edited 153 issues of the Vietnam Vet Gazette. I also took over the Webmaster a few years back. I will keep the Webmaster position. I've had these 3 positions since we started. This will give the chapter change. I feel there are some very smart people in the chapter that could handle one of these positions. I just took these positions when we started the chapter in 2000 cause I had everything in one computer, and we've grown from there. In January we'll start looking for candidates for these (2) positions. This will give people a chance to start thinking about it and 4 months to train them.

The Risk of Over-Thanking Our Veterans

By KEN HARBAUGH JUNE 1, 2015

TRAVELING through an airport recently, I witnessed a now-commonplace ritual: military personnel getting head-of-the-line privileges in the boarding area. As we complete the withdrawal of American troops from Afghanistan, one of the legacies of the longest war in our history is how the public has rallied to support those who served.

While this can seem superficial at times, there is not a vet alive who would prefer the other extreme. My father served in Vietnam, and the welcome home his generation received was a national disgrace. Unfortunately, the modern-day lionization of veterans has itself gone too far. In Washington, this knee-jerk support has resulted in policy decisions that will hurt both vets and the larger public over time. Since 2000, the Department of Veterans Affairs has seen its budget nearly triple. Its programs run the gamut from burial benefits to job training. But among the biggest cost drivers is the disability-compensation system, which now approaches $60 billion per year. These disability payments are separate from medical costs associated with treating an injury, and are set at varying levels to compensate injured veterans for an assumed inability to work. The average payout has risen 60 percent (inflation-adjusted) since 2000, and the proportion of veterans receiving some form of compensation has nearly doubled.

And while most vets who receive disability checks deserve them, one of the worst kept secrets among those seeking a disability rating is that the system can be beaten. Claim the right combination of symptoms, whether you are suffering or not, and there is a decent chance you can get a monthly disability check, tax free, for the rest of your life. There are even blogs out there to walk you through the process of claiming an injury that cannot be disproved.

Sometimes it takes no effort at all. When I left the Navy in 2005, I filled out a form and got a medical exam in order to document a fractured shoulder that I had sustained in the line of duty. Soon after, I received a rating and my first monthly direct-deposit payment.

Not feeling entitled to anything other than medical care, I attempted to discontinue the payment, but was told there was no process for doing so. Even my ability to hold a full-time job had no bearing on my disability rating.

Matt Richtel wrote a thoughtful piece on the "thank you for your service phenomenon" a few months ago. "To some recent vets — by no stretch...

As a nation, we have no greater duty than to care for those who have fought our battles.

But the current disability-compensation regime demands a closer look, not only for the sake of financial prudence but also to avoid creating a culture of dependency. A recent study by Mark Duggan, an economist at Stanford, linked rising disability payments to increased unemployment among veterans. The author suggests that such payments may reduce the "recipient's propensity to work" because disability checks obviate the need for a job.

Someday, once all the backlogs at Veterans Affairs are cleared, many will declare "mission accomplished." But this is when the real problem will emerge. The annual cost of disability compensation is rising steadily, to $60 billion today from $20 billion in 2000. That curve continues to bend upward. The American public will move beyond superficial expressions of support and ask, "Is this bill too high?" They are the ones, after all, who are stuck with the tab. Payouts set to top $100 billion are going to draw attention.

So how did we get here? Over the last 14 years of war, America has experienced a perfect storm of sympathy for veterans: a combination of unmet needs like vets waiting for care, an admiring but ultimately disengaged public and a political class with almost no military experience that feels it lacks the moral authority to say no. Today, it is taboo to question the honor of a veteran seeking compensation, and those who dare challenge the benefits system are deemed insufficiently patriotic.

Policy updates can address some of this. Veterans Affairs should look harder at ways the system is being gamed, and abuses should be ended much as we go after phony workers' compensation claims. There should be an option for those who want to document injuries to guarantee medical care, but who do not want a compensation payment. And we should double down on programs like job training that empower veterans as opposed to creating dependencies.

We have come a long way since Vietnam, and for that we should be grateful. But over time, an act as simple as honoring service members at the airport can morph into something altogether dishonorable. As veterans, we should not demand more than we are owed. As a society, we should have the guts to push back when necessary, and elect leaders who can make tough choices about issues such as Veterans Affairs spending. Above all, we must guard against the day when the benefits veterans have rightfully earned become a source of resentment to those they have faithfully served. □
